CONTENTS

No. 1 JANUARY, 1947

T. H. Jukes, E. L. R. Stokstad and Margaret Belt. Deficiencies of certain vitamins as studied with turkey poults on a purified diet. I. Pteroylglutamic acid, riboflavin, niacin and inositol. Six figures 1

E. P. Singsen, L. D. Matterson and H. M. Scott. Phosphorus in poultry nutrition. III. The relationship between the source of vitamin D and the utilization of cereal phosphorus by the poult. One figure 13

Harry G. Day and Blanche E. Skidmore. Some effects of dietary zinc deficiency in the mouse. Three figures 27

H. A. Ellenberger, N. B. Guerrant and O. B. Fardig. Seasonal variations in the vitamin A and the carotene content of retail butters. Three figures 39

Janet M. Lemley, R. A. Brown, O. D. Bird and A. D. Emmett. Absorption and storage of vitamin A in the liver of the rat 53

L. E. Frazier, R. W. Wissler, C. H. Steffee, R. L. Woolridge and P. R. Cannon. Studies in amino acid utilization. I. The dietary utilization of mixtures of purified amino acids in protein-depleted adult albino rats. Four figures 65

E. P. Benditt, E. M. Humphreys, R. L. Straube, R. W. Wissler and C. H. Steffee. Studies in amino acid utilization. II. Essential amino acids as a source of plasma protein and erythrocytes in the hypoproteinemic rat ... 85

E. L. Hove and Philip L. Harris. Relative activity of the tocopherols in curing muscular dystrophy in rabbits. Three figures 95

William J. Darby, Paul F. Hahn, Margaret M. Kaser, Ruth C. Steinkamp, Paul M. Densen and Mary B. Cook. The absorption of radioactive iron by children 7–10 years of age. Two figures 107

P. S. Sarma, E. E. Snell and C. A. Elvehjem. The bioassay of vitamin B_6 in natural materials 121

No. 2 FEBRUARY, 1947

ROBERT P. GEYER, BEVERLY RANSONE GEYER, PHILIP H. DERSE, TAYA ZINKIN, C. A. ELVEHJEM AND E. B. HART. Growth studies with rats kept under conditions which prevent coprophagy. Two figures 129

EVELYN J. LORENZEN AND SEDGWICK E. SMITH. Copper and manganese storage in the rat, rabbit, and guinea pig 143

W. D. SALMON. Some physiological relationships of protein, fat, choline, methionine, cystine, nicotinic acid and tryptophane 155

W. D. SALMON. Relation of corn products to the requirement of the rat for dietary nicotinic acid 169

VIRGINIA AUGUR, HILDA S. ROLLMAN AND HARRY J. DEUEL, JR. The effect of crude lecithin on the coefficient of digestibility and the rate of absorption of fat 177

MARY E. CROCKETT AND HARRY J. DEUEL, JR. A comparison of the coefficient of digestibility and the rate of absorption of several natural and artificial fats as influenced by melting point 187

ADELAIDA M. BENDAÑA-BROWN AND BARKER H. BROWN. The use of albino mice to determine the utilization of the calcium of dehydrated carrots and cabbage 195

BETTY F. STEELE, H. E. SAUBERLICH, MAY S. REYNOLDS AND C. A. BAUMANN. Amino acids in the urine of human subjects fed eggs or soy beans 209

PHILIP HANDLER. The biochemical defect underlying the nutritional failure of young rats on diets containing excessive quatities of lactose or galactose 221

O. H. M. WILDER AND H. R. KRAYBILL. Effect of cooking and curing on lysine content of pork luncheon meat. Three figures 235

WILLIAM J. DARBY, MARGARET M. KASER AND EDGAR JONES. The influence of pteroylglutamic acid (a member of the vitamin M group) on the absorption of vitamin A and carotene by patients with sprue. One figure 243

No. 3 MARCH, 1947

R. W. LUECKE, W. N. MCMILLEN, F. THORP, JR. AND CAROLYN TULL. The relationship of nicotinic acid, tryptophane and protein in the nutrition of the pig 251

A. C. WIESE, B. CONNOR JOHNSON, H. H. MITCHELL AND W. B. NEVENS. Riboflavin deficiency in the dairy calf. Four figures 263

JOSEPH L. BERG, EDGAR R. PUND, V. P. SYDENSTRICKER, W. KNOWLTON HALL, LESTER L. BOWLES AND CHARLES W. HOCK. The formation of capillaries and other tissue changes in the cornea of the methionine-deficient rat. Twelve figures 271

JOHN HALDI AND WINFREY WYNN. Work performance, respiratory exchange, and certain blood constituents after isocaloric meals of low and high carbohydrate content. One figure 287

BEULAH D. WESTERMAN AND GERTRUDE HALL. Improving the nutritive value of flour. I. The effect of supplementing enriched flour with other B-complex vitamins. Four figures 301

F. H. KRATZER, DELBERT WILLIAMS AND ELIZABETH F. BAKER. Amino acids required to supplement linseed protein for chick growth 313

H. R. BIRD, MAX RUBIN AND A. C. GROSCHKE. An inborn characteristic determining the response of chickens to a diet free of animal protein. Two figures 319

H. H. KIBLER, S. BRODY AND D. WORSTELL. Surface area and metabolism of growing guinea pigs. Two figures 331

J. BOER, B. C. P. JANSEN AND A. KENTIE. On the growth-promoting factor for rats present in summer butter. One figure 339

J. BOER, B. C. P. JANSEN, A. KENTIE AND H. W. KNOL. The growth-promoting action of vaccenic acid 359

No. 4 APRIL, 1947

J. B. ALLISON, J. A. ANDERSON AND R. D. SEELEY. Some effects of methionine on the utilization of nitrogen in the adult dog. Three figures 361

RICHARD M. JOHNSON, H. J. DEUEL, JR., MARGARET G. MOREHOUSE AND JOHN W. MEHL. With the technical assistance of Irene Smythe, Robert Baber, Robert Baker, Anita Suran and Dalton Merkel. The effect of methionine upon the urinary nitrogen in men at normal and low levels of protein intake 371

MIRIAM BRUSH, WANDA WILLMAN AND PEARL P. SWANSON. Amino acids in nitrogen metabolism with particular reference to the role of methionine. Four figures 389

PHILIP L. HARRIS, WILLIAM J. SWANSON AND K. C. D. HICKMAN. Covitamin studies. VI. Effect of tocopherol supplementation on the output of vitamin A, carotene, and fat by dairy cows. Six figures 411

F. K. DANIEL AND E. H. HARVEY. Some observations on the nutritional value of dialyzed whey solids 429

WARREN M. COX, JR., ARTHUR J. MUELLER, ROBERT ELMAN, ANTHONY A. ALBANESE, K. S. KEMMERER, R. W. BARTON AND L. EMMETT HOLT, JR. With the technical assistance of Kathryn R. Drone, Dorothy Sloat, Marilyn Lein and Harriet W. Davey. Nitrogen retention studies on rats, dogs and man; the effect of adding methionine to an enzymic casein hydrolysate. Two figures 437

MARIE DYE, THELMA PORTER AND EUNICE KELLY. The conjoint effects of varied intakes of thiamine and vitamin A on rats 459

W. P. LEHRER, JR., ELLA WOODS AND W. M. BEESON. The value of meat and peas, alone or in combination, as a source of protein for growth 469

J. ESTELLE HAINES, ANN MOORE KLOSTERMAN, HAZEL M. HAUCK, MARGARET A. DELANEY AND ALICE B. KLINE. With the cooperation of Eleanor B. Sisler and Margaret Newell. Tissue reserves of ascorbic acid in normal adults of three levels of intake. One figure 479

No. 5 MAY, 1947

E. W. CRAMPTON. The growth of the odontoblasts of the incisor tooth as a criterion of the vitamin C intake of the guinea pig. Five figures 491

ANN MOORE KLOSTERMAN, J. ESTELLE HAINES, HAZEL M. HAUCK AND ALICE B. KLINE. The renal threshold for ascorbic acid. A modified method for its estimation with results for twelve adult subjects 505

HAZEL M. HAUCK. Plasma levels and urinary excretion of ascorbic acid in women during the menstrual cycle 511

MARGARET A. MCGREGOR, HELEN T. PARSONS AND WILLIAM H. PETERSON. Biotin balance in the albino rat 517

CLARA A. STORVICK, MARGARET L. FINCKE, JEANNE PERKINS QUINN AND BESSIE L. DAVEY. A study of ascorbic acid metabolism of adolescent children 529

HAROLD G. LOEB AND G. O. BURR. A study of sex differences in the composition of rats, with emphasis on the lipid component. Sex difference in susceptibility to essential fatty acid deficiency with high and low fat diets. One figure 541

B. S. SCHWEIGERT. Amino acid content of feeds. I. Leucine, valine, isoleucine and phenylalanine 553

FRED ROSEN, J. W. HUFF AND W. A. PERLZWEIG. The role of B_6-deficiency in the tryptophane-niacin relationships in rats 561

HARRY J. DEUEL, JR., EMILY R. MESERVE, EVELYN STRAUB, CORNELIA HENDRICK AND BRADLEY T. SCHEER. The effect of fat level of the diet on general nutrition. I. Growth, reproduction and physical capacity of rats receiving diets containing various levels of cottonseed oil or margarine fat ad libitum. Two figures 569

BRADLEY T. SCHEER, DOROTHY F. SOULE, MAX FIELDS AND H. J. DEUEL, JR. The effect of fat level of the diet on general nutrition. II. Growth, mortality and recovery in weanling rats maintained on restricted calories. One figure 583

JOSÉ A. GOYCO AND CONRADO F. ASENJO. The net protein value of food yeast 593

No. 6 JUNE, 1947

BERTHA MUNKS, MILDRED KAUCHER, ELSIE Z. MOYER, MARY ELLEN HARRIS AND ICIE G. MACY. Metabolism of women during the reproductive cycle. XI. Vitamin C in diets, breast milk, blood and urine of nursing mothers 601

J. P. PRATT, BERTHA MUNKS AND ICIE G. MACY. Metabolism of women during the reproductive cycle. XII. The effect of multi-vitamin supplements on the vitamin C utilization of nursing mothers 621

R. F. KRAUSE AND HAROLD B. PIERCE. With the technical assistance of Ruth Law and Hattie Kaplan. Blood levels and absorption of vitamin A in children with keratosis follicularis. Two figures 633

BRADLEY T. SCHEER, JOHN F. CODIE AND H. J. DEUEL, JR. The effect of fat level of the diet on general nutrition. III. Weight loss, mortality and recovery in young adult rats maintained on restricted calories 641

CYRUS E. FRENCH AND FREDERICK J. STARE. Nutritional surveys in western Holland: Rotterdam, 1945. One figure 649

ROBERT JOHN EVANS, JAMES MCGINNIS AND J. L. ST. JOHN. The influence of autoclaving soybean oil meal on the digestibility of the proteins ... 661

G. W. NEWELL AND C. A. ELVEHJEM. Nutritive value of keratin. III. Effect of source, particle size, and method of grinding 673

D. M. HEGSTED AND JANE WORCESTER. A study of the relation between protein efficiency and gain in weight on diets of constant protein content. Ten figures 685

PAUL F. FENTON AND GEORGE R. COWGILL. With the technical assistance of Marie A. Stone 703
